ECOINTENTION II - ONLINE

What is your wishlist?

A balancing always starts with a wishlist. What goals do you want to achieve this year? What are your deepest wishes for yourself, your life, your environment and work? Of course, your partner and children may also make their wishlist. We test whether your goals are achievable.

Work with your energetic toolbox

You balance your project via the ground plan. Meanwhile you learn the effect of all kinds of symbols. With this knowledge you can put together your energetic toolbox, that you can use anywhere.

By balancing, your house becomes an organic whole in which everything falls into place. The energy improves. Stress harmonizes. Rooms clear up.

Improve your energetic observations

You learn to interpret the energetic development of your project. Is there a change from bad- to good luck? How do your children or pets respond to the new energy?

You empower your balancing through energy control points in your home. This way you check whether your balancing arrives everywhere. Does the energy improve in all rooms? Do all plants flourish in your garden?

Balance your project

Your project is your house with garden. It is possible to involve your work. First the course management will make an energy scan of your project. Are you able to balance it? In how much time? Are the goals achievable?

Direct feedback

You test the energy of your project every fortnight. You mail the result to your coach. He/she checks your balancing for possible errors, improves these or gives you instructions on how to do it yourself. This way you get immediate feedback through which your learning process accelerates.

Course leaders and supervision

The course is given by Hans Andeweg and Linde Mees.

Linde is ECOintention Practitioner and member of the management team.

Rijk Bols and an ECOintention Coach are supervising your balancing. Rijk Bols is co-founder of Center for ECOintention and has the supervision of all student projects.

Receive the diploma ECOintention Advanced I

You finish the course with a report and a short presentation for your group. There are also a theory- and dowsing test this year. If this is okay, you receive the diploma 'ECOintention Advanced I'. This course is the 2nd year of the 4-year ECOintention Vocational Training which is officially recognized by the Dutch government.

What?

The course consists of 10 Online Modules, and a 3-day Intensive in which you meet your coach and learn essential balancing skills. In the Modules we discuss the development of your project, answer questions, introduce new theory, meditate and do energetic exercises. Pdfs and video clips are part of the course material.
